Building bridges with quantitative sciences for smarter drug development

The International Conference on Pharmacometrics, India (ICoP India 2027), hosted by the Society of Pharmacometrics and Health Analytics (SOPHAS) with the support of the PSG Institute of Medical Sciences and Research, Coimbatore, and the International Society of Pharmacometrics (ISoP), returns for its third annual edition from January 4–7, 2027, in Coimbatore, India. Building on the success of ICoP India 2026, this year's conference is themed “Building bridges with quantitative sciences for smarter drug development”.

ICoP India 2027 will bring together a vibrant mix of scientists, clinicians, pharmacometricians, regulators, biostatisticians, students, and industry experts from India and around the world. Key focus areas include quantitative models in drug discovery, translational research, regulatory impact, MIDD in generics and novel modalities.

With dedicated sessions on mentorship, student support, and career development, ICoP India 2027 also invests in building India's next generation of leaders in quantitative sciences. The conference is designed to spark scientific dialogue, forge strategic partnerships, and lay down the foundational pathways that connect rigorous data with clinical application to drive smarter drug development.

The main conference (January 5–6) will be held at the elegant Le Meridien, Coimbatore, while the pre-conference workshop (January 4) and post-conference workshop (January 7) will take place at PSGIMSR, Coimbatore. Together, these events will offer a dynamic platform for immersive learning, collaborative discussions, and the practical application of advanced pharmacometric methodologies.
